City to buy golf course?

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A proposed 18-hole golf course and a new series of homes have moved a step closer, following a vote Monday night by the Romulus City Council.

The only question remaining following the council session, was whether or not the city itself would buy the golf course from Resco Inc. and operate it.

City Attorney Barry Seifman said the prospect of the city purchasing the proposed golf course is still being negotiated and thus has not been placed before the City Council.

Salvatore Cottone, president of Resco Inc., reported that his firm plans to build the golf course as the center of Resco housing project, whether the city gets involved with the golf course management or not.

The golf course and wide assortment of housing units (ranging from condominiums to apartments) would be erected on 335 acres of former county farm land at Van Born and Merriman Roads.

The housing proposal received a favorable recommendation from the city Planning Commission.

Cottone said Resco Inc. also is negotiating with the Romulus School District about the future of a 20-acre tract adjoining the former county property.

The golf course, which Cottone hopes to begin building this year, will be the first portion of the project to be constructed.

Seifman said that the real estate values of homes on or immediately adjacent to golf courses usually bear a higher value.

In an effort to allay any local residents' fears, Cottone said, that no wall would be erected on the edge of the golf course, but admitted some protection style fences could be built.

Cottone said current plans also call for a community center to be constructed on the

The Romulus High School Class of 1995 will be presented with their diplomas at 11 a.m. Saturday, marking the second year the ceremonies will be conducted in the new high school athletic facility.

Slated to speak to their classmates will be class valedictorian Bobby Craft and salutatorian Kalani Mitchell.

Craft plans to major in chemical engineering at Morehouse College in Atlanta, Ga.

He earned a grade point average of 4.016.

Mitchell earned a 3.977 grade point average and plans to major in aerospace engineering at Wayne State University.

Completing the list of the top 10 students of the Class of 1995 are Tracy Blizman, Stephanie Vit, Michelle Slawinski, Jeremy Castle, Shalina Warren, Kristine More, Jason Chmura and Paul Boslet.

The Class of 1995 has selected Yesterday as their class song.

Townhouse residents asking for stepped up police patrols

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A vocal group of Wellesley Townhouse residents asked for stepped up police protection against a growing drug sales menace found there Monday night.

One woman townhouse spokesperson told the Romulus City Council that she and others began walking outside the Wellesley homes recently for exercise, when they began seeing some unsavory persons apparently selling or buying drugs.

But they were more distressed, the woman said, when they called Romulus Police Headquarters for help and got no assistance for more than half an hour.

"One time a resident called the police and reported a fight in progress. The caller was queried by the police dispatcher 'what color are the persons who are fighting?'" the woman said.

The woman's complaints were received politely by Mayor Beverly McAnally and various councilmen, who praised the residents for showing up in such strong numbers.

"I only wish you had contacted me earlier," McAnally said. But she agreed to check out the racial inquiry as well as police response times on calls to Wellesley in recent months.

Veteran Councilman Ellis Pennington said he felt that the major question in his eyes was not response time, but stepped up patrols in the Wellesley Townhouse area.

The need for a Neighborhood Watch program also was discussed, but a spokesperson said in the past it has been hard to get a large gathering of tenants to attend an organizational meeting.

"We want to stress that most people living here are good people and the drug problem here is small. But we want to nip it in the bud," the spokeswoman said.

"But at the same time we pay taxes and vote," the woman said, "and thus we feel that we deserve the same respect and police support that other residents of the city receive."

Both townhouse residents and city officials vowed to keep in communication with each other in an effort to eliminate the drug problem.

Police Chief Daryl Poe contacted on Tuesday morning said he watched the City Council meeting on cable Monday night.

"City wide our response time on priority calls (serious crime or other critical incidents) is six minutes. I will be checking audio tapes and other police records involving Wellesley incidents to determine what action is needed."

Poe said a Neighborhood Watch program was established last year at the townhouses, but will need strengthening.

Chief's secretary Memories will last a lifetime

By AL POST

For the past 10 years Dorris Bennett has sat in the mainstream of the city's public safety system, as secretary to six different police chiefs.

Bennett said initially in May 1985 she handled many of the police reports manually, where today they are produced mostly in a computerized fashion.

But the thing that amazed the veteran secretary most upon assuming the chief's secretarial post, was the attitude of defendants in criminal cases.

"It continued to amaze me through the years that so many people could do so much wrong and not be remorseful about their actions," Bennett said.

Being in the center of most of the police communications, she said, also added an emotional level to her job.

Bennett cited three incidents that left strong memories for her, even now after retiring from the secretarial post.

The first was a more than half million dollar drug seizure at Detroit Metro Airport.

The investigators at the time placed all the confiscated money in $100 bill amounts and smaller on a table, Bennett said.

"First just the visual impact of such a large amount of cash shocked me. But worse was the realization that someone was trying to use all that money for such a purpose (purchasing drugs) really bothered me," Bennett said.

The second incident was the dramatic Sunday plane crash on Aug. 16, 1987, in which only a small child survived.

"Even though I was home because it was a weekend," she said, "I began getting calls from relatives and friends asking me about the site of the crash."

Then the next day the extensive work began in attempting to retrieve and identify the victim's bodies and their possessions. That effort was emotionally hard on everyone involved, Bennett said.

The third heart-wrenching event during her decade of police work, was the day after a fellow police officer commit-

Motown sound

One-man band performs at the State Wayne Theatre

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

The Motown sound has arrived in Wayne as the multi-talented Johnnie Walker gets ready to dazzle audiences of all ages with his musical expertise.

Walker, a Wayne resident, will take center stage 2:30 p.m. June 25 at the Stage IV of the State Wayne Theatre off Michigan Avenue.

A wide variety of vocalists will be featured.

"I'm going to play a little Motown and blues," said Walker. "I'm also going to have a slide show highlighting the best that western Wayne County has to offer."

Walker is no stranger to the stage. Since 1962 he has been playing with the best of the best.

"I started my musical career in Chicago," Walker said. "My very first job was with the Lorenzo Smith Orchestra. I was a saxophone player, but I also played drums and the organ."

One of the more memorable performances Walker recalled was playing with the Spinners.

"It was only a two day gig, but I'll never forget it," Walker said. "I also played with Bo Diddley. I traveled with him to New York."

By the late 1980s Walker's career was at its peak, and he became managed by none other than Red Fox.

"At that time I was featured in Jet Magazine," Walker said. "I knew a lot of people and traveled to quite a few cities. It was a great time."

A one-man band, Walker is planning on performing every month featuring local talent.

He is a firm believer in supporting other musicians and singers.

"My ultimate goal would be to have a talk show/game show," said Walker. "I think I would be good at that. For the next 50 years I want to have a better image of myself and others. I want to be able to make this world a better place to live."

Tickets are now on sale at the State Wayne Theatre for Walker's June 25 special performance. Cost is $10 for adults and $8 for seniors and students.

Area residents interested in performing with Walker can call 326-9140.

Wayne resident Johnnie Walker hopes that area residents will come out to hear his unique talent at Stage IV of the State Wayne Theatre. MCN Special Photo

Ozone Action days announced to protect air quality

Ozone Action days return this summer as Southeast Michigan continues efforts to keep its air clean and healthy by voluntary measures to reduce excessive ozone, a major health hazard for the elderly and young, people with respiratory problems and those who work or exercise vigorously outdoors.

The 1995 introduction of Ozone Action! helped keep overall air quality within health standards for ozone established by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA).

Ozone Action! was supported by some 600,000 households in the seven-county Southeast Michigan region.

The voluntary emissions reduction program is sponsored by the Clean Air Coalition of Southeast Michigan, which includes the auto industry, power utilities, oil companies and other businesses as well as labor, environmental organizations and state and local government officials.

In addition to maintaining healthy air quality, the region was able to gain redesignation from USEPA as an ozone attainment area. That redesignation did not eliminate any existing pollution control measures, but did avoid imposing of additional controls on business and individuals.

This year's Ozone Action! program is significantly expanded over the 1994 version. More than 8,000 businesses have been contacted about implementing Ozone Action! programs, along with 234 local governments and 90 local school districts. Special educational materials have been distributed to more than 4,000 classroom teachers for inclusion in science education at the elementary, middle school and high school levels.

Again this year, the Clean Air Coalition's meteorology team will identify as Ozone Action! days those hot (90 degrees or more) days with little or no wind or cloud cover.

There are 10 ozone monitoring stations in Southeast Michigan.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

2 blood drives slated soon

Two blood drives will be conducted at the New Faith Chapel and Romulus City Hall this month, the American Red Cross revealed today.

The drive at the chapel will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. The chapel is located at 19498 Middlebelt Road in Romulus. For an appointment call 248-9095.

The drive at City Hall will be conducted from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. June 22 in the community room. For appointments call 942-7512.

Art in the Park planned July 2

The annual "Art in the Park" sales and display program will be conducted on July 2 in Romulus Historic Park.

Maria Lambert, treasurer of the Romulus Arts Commission, revealed that area artists and crafters are invited to enter their arts and crafts for sale during this Romulus 25th Birthday celebration day.

The sale will take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. that day. Crafters can rent space in the park for $15, Lambert said.

Reservations need to be made by June 26 by calling Lambert at 942-7543 or Arts Commission Chairperson Susan Watts at 941-0476.

In past years the "Arts in the Park" sale was conducted in September. This year it has been switched to July, and none will be held in September, Lambert said.

We are encouraging crafters to bring only handmade items, Lambert stressed, rather than resale crafts.

Funds raised via the sale project are used to sponsor an annual $500 high school scholarship as well as kicking off an effort to create a Romulus Symphonic Orchestra.

Businessman gets humanitarian award

Todd Hauter, owner of the Av-Tech Stress Management Center of Romulus, has been presented with a humanitarian award in regard to his work with the terminally ill.

Hauter was presented with the award by Jill LaVelle, president of the International Association of Counselors and Therapists. The IACT is an international professional organization with more than 9,000 members.

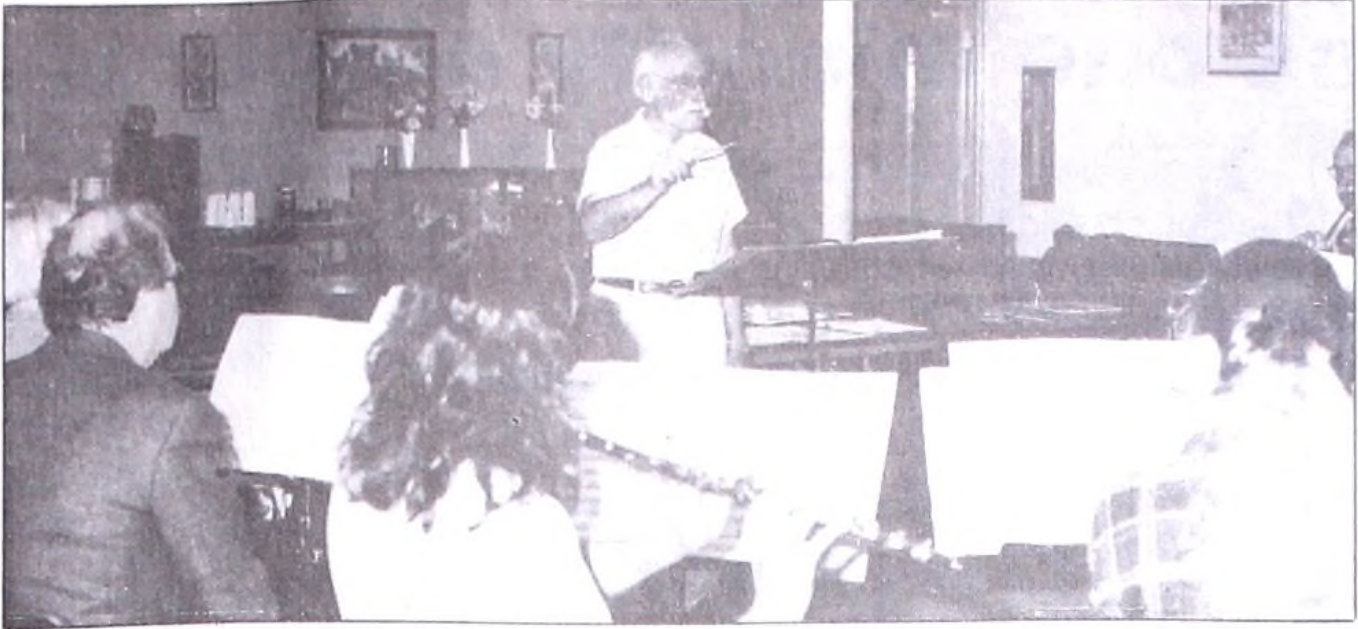

Each year's award winners are nominated by chapter members and voted on by a board of advisors, including such notables as Dr. Bernie Siegel, author of Love, Medicine and Miracles and John Bradshaw, PBS television personality and founder of Resources for Change Inc.

Hauter was honored for his activities with the bereavement team of the Taylor office of the Hospice of Southeast Michigan.

Av-Tech Stress Management Center is a Romulus company specializing in identifying and interpreting stressors and teaching stress management techniques.

The infant Romulus Symphonic Orchestra group that just began meeting for rehearsals is being offered its first public outing on July 2, in connection with the city's 25th birthday.

The orchestra leader, Edouard Kesner, is thrilled by the early turnout of musicians each Wednesday (7 to 9:30 p.m.) at the city's Senior Citizen Center on Bibbins Street.

He urges other musicians and volunteers to join the effort.

Because of participants' work schedules and the fact that the musical unit is just in its infancy, Kesner said, turnouts from week to week list different participants and instruments.

"We have been practicing a mixed bag of musical pieces," Kesner said, "and will be playing everything from Happy Birthday to the Stars and Stripes Forever on July 2."

Kesner said there already is a small nucleus of very sincere musicians taking part, including a group from the Livonia Symphony, who are currently in summer recess.

In addition, Kesner revealed, musicians from Sterling Heights and Grosse Pointe also have attended past musical rehearsals.

But we can still use more musicians especially percussion and string players, he said.

At a recent rehearsal, the following were among those who appeared: Michael Mainguth, Leslie Buchanan, Cecelia Chernick, Ann Wagner, Lorna Burke, Andrew Wagner, Teri Rae Sankovich, Robin Poole, Jere E. Pendergrass and Eleanor Smith.

In addition to musicians, Kesner said, he needs volunteers who will help publicize the group's efforts and possibly some local businesses to supply light snacks and cold drinks for the group's break times each Wednesday night.

Kesner said he is encouraged that many volunteers state "it is high time something of this quality was attempted here" and thus he has vowed he wants the musical effort to be a project of pleasure for all involved.

Persons seeking more information on the group or who wish to donate printed music, instruments or snacks to the group, are urged to call Kesner at 942-9095 or Brian Hitsky at 942-6852.

Kesner was recently named to the city's Arts Council and part of the funds raised at the upcoming "Arts in the Park" session will be donated to the growing musical group.

2 Salvation Army volunteers honored for on-going efforts

A Romulus Salvation Army Thrift Store volunteer and Advisory Board member were among the 13 persons honored recently with Army of the Stars medallions.

The pair: Martha Holloway of Romulus and George Gouth of Taylor were given the tributes at the Army's Advisory Board Annual Civic Dinner at Cobo Hall in Detroit.

Romulus Salvation Army Commander Capt. Roger Senn said, "Holloway's first association with the local thrift store was as a customer. Today it is as a volunteer."

Holloway spends five days a week contributing and maintaining order in the store, Senn said.

"Her cheerful attitude and willingness to work has made her a friend to many involved at the thrift store and the adjacent Adult Rehabilitation Center on Goddard Road."

Holloway was praised for having a "beautiful Christian attitude that has enabled her to express the compassion of Christ towards those in our program."

Gouth, who is a member of the Romulus Salvation Army Advisory Board, previously was a teacher and principal at Wyandotte Public Schools.

Gouth previously was honored as the Advisory Board Council "Citizen of the Year" and as "Man of the Year" by the Inter-Service Club Council.

Last month he was given the Army of Stars award for his constant work with Wyandotte and Romulus Advisory Boards.

ted suicide, she said.

"It is hard to explain the depression that hit us all," Bennett explained.

But on the flip side police work also has its positive memories, she said, and the most memorable miracle story was the day that young John Osborne was saved from a serious injury on the job.

Today Osborne, 20, is back on the job working at his family's business (Osborne Concrete Co.) driving the huge gravel train apparatus, despite losing part of his left leg.

His mom, Donna, praised the work of the Romulus Police Department this past Tuesday, saying that they (collectively) helped the Osborne family get through the near tragedy back in 1989.

The police even helped in the collection of 2,500 sports style caps that young John (he was 15 at the time) collected.

Having left police work behind, Bennett still can list the chiefs she has served: Chief Donald Flood, Acting Chief John Lewis, Chief Charles Wilmoth, Chief Fred Dansby, Acting and then Chief Robert Brown and finally Acting Chief and now Chief Daryl Poe.

Bennett had earlier worked for engineer and accounting firms as well as Chrysler Corp.

Now in retirement she plans to relax in a rural home she and her husband, Herbert, have purchased near Baldwin.

The remainder of her spare time will be spent entertaining her two daughters and their families: Belinda (Robert) Choate and Tamatha (Matt) McGrane and her two grandchildren, Olivia Rae Choate and Jesse McGrane.

Occasionally she also will travel to West Virginia and visit her 88-year-old mother, Iva Clingman, she said.

If time ever starts to drag in the future, Bennett can also go back to work in real estate, as she has kept her license alive.

But for the time being, Bennett has no qualms about just relaxing and enjoying the good life.

Poe said "Doris was well liked by everyone in the department. She made my job much easier, while serving as secretary."

"Dorris was well liked by everyone in the department. She made my job much easier, while serving as secretary."

Millage information meetings planned

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKE
MCN Staff Writer

The final days of the June 12 millage and school board elections approaches as campaign momentum continues and community reaction seems to be in support of the two tax proposals that will appear following a short campaign of the millage issues.

A special informational millage meeting, organized by the Wayne-Westland Community Schools, was the chance for the public to hear the facts of the two tax proposals as well as the effects the passage and failure of the millage will have on the district.

Community members in attendance asked questions of the millage panel including Assistant Superintendent of General Administration, Greg Baracy.

According to the two proposals approved by the Wayne-Westland Board of Education the ballot on June 12 will include:

- A 3 mill, two-year enhancement proposal that would allow the Wayne-Westland Community Schools to: Reinstatement bus transportation for eligible students in grades 6-12; Guarantee continued high school accreditation; Provide school-funded athletics and many extra curricular activities; and Comply with the State legal deficit reduction order.
- A 10-year renewal of an 18 mill non-homestead tax and non-qualified agricultural property.

The 3 mill enhancement will allow the school district to comply with the state's legal order to get the district out of deficit spending as proposed by the six-point deficit reduction plan approved by the Michigan State Board of Education.

Police firing leaves one minority officer on force

The recent dismissal of a Romulus police officer, who pleaded no contest to a bribery charge in the 34th District Court, cuts the number of African-Americans on the force in half.

Up until this incident the Romulus police force had two African-American officers. Today, there is only one. Sgt. Emmett Barnes.

Officer Clayton Stevens III, a seven-year veteran on the force, was fired on May 11 by Police Chief Daryl Poe following a police chief's hearing on a complaint by a 29-year-old Taylor woman motorist.

The woman said Stevens had offered to overlook a drug charge after finding marijuana in her car, if she would expose her crotch to him.

In addition to losing his job, Stevens was charged with a misdemeanor. He pleaded no contest to the charge of bribery involving non performance of duty last Thursday.

Judge Tina Brooks Green of the 34th District Court in Romulus told Stevens that she would accept his plea, but if she decided to send him to jail on sentencing day June 14, she would allow him to withdraw his plea.

Stevens had been fired on May 11 following a police chief's hearing on May 4.

Stevens was accused of stopping the woman for a traffic violation on Valentine's Day. The woman said he placed her in his police car and then searched her auto and reportedly found a knife and small amount of marijuana.

The woman said he offered not to file the drug charge against her if she would show him her genital area.

Police said the woman apparently complied with his request, but later decided to report the incident to his superiors.

Stevens was first suspended by Poe and then fired on May 11.

Poe said Stevens denied the charge at the chief's hearing.

Following published news accounts of the Taylor woman's charge, a second woman came forward (a 22-year-old resident of Westland) and claimed a similar incident occurred to her back on Oct. 14, 1994, a reliable source said.

That charge was dropped with the plea agreement announced last Thursday in court. Three possible similar incidents (minus the actual genital exposure compliance by the potential victims) were related to local police officers, but no official charges were filed and thus will have no impact on the sentencing, the reliable source said.

In addition to his plea of no contest (that could result in up to a six month jail term), Stevens through his lawyer said the officer would resign from the police department

(which in effect means he will not appeal his firing) and will release the police department

Future of education in hands of voters

Next Monday, the voters of Western Wayne County will have an opportunity to cast their ballots for school board candidates, and, in several instances, make decisions on future millage rates.

Although there has been a high level of criticisms, complaints and second-guessing of school board policies and procedures in the past, voter participation has not been at the same high level.

We hope that in the June 12 balloting those who want to make their voices heard in the future decisions of their school boards will cast their ballots for individuals who will work for high standards of education and the best interests of the communities they represent.

Van Buren School District

We support the re-election of the incumbents, Karl Gorham and Martha Toth. Both have been hard-working trustees who have made valuable contributions to the school district.

Romulus Community Schools

Howard J. Kesner, immediate past president of the Romulus School Board, deserves re-election to his post, but running unopposed is a poor way to accomplish the feat. We have a deep concern about the fact that this is the second time in four years that Kesner has run unopposed. Such a continuing situation does not speak well for citizen interest in the school board, and definitely defeats the purpose of the election process.

Plymouth-Canton School District

The district is fortunate to have 10 candidates, several of whom have excellent credentials, vying for the two school board seats.

Two candidates impressed us with their responses at the League of Women Voters-sponsored Candidate Forum, Paul Schrauben and David McCarthy. We admire McCarthy's goal of making the district "the standard by which all Michigan districts are measured," and Schrauben's pledge to establish long-term goals and strategies for the school district. We also believe Carrie Blamer's experience in school volunteer work qualifies her for consideration at the polls.

We support the continuation of the 18 mill levy against non-homestead and qualified agricultural property and the 2.3 mills to be levied against all property for a two-year-period. We believe the school district has successfully presented its case for passage of the 2.3 mills to fund the three T's - tools, teachers and technology.

See FUTURE, page A-7

I can't think of an issue that commands greater importance than education. It is the quality education of our youth that will allow this nation to continue to lead the world in the 21st Century.

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

Therefore, it behooves each and every one of us to familiarize ourselves with the local issues and candidates that are competing for our votes on June 12.

In some areas, like Canton, the familiarizing process is more difficult. Ten citizens have decided to campaign for two school board seats. This signals a healthy involvement by parents in the system of educating our students. More often than not the school board election pits one against one other candidate, or in the case of Romulus this time around, the incumbent, Howard Resner, has no one running against him.

It is hard to read the situation in Wayne-Westland, a school district long troubled with money woes. Three candidates will challenge for two seats, not a great representation of citizen involvement by anyone's yardstick. This is a concern because the school district is going to be deciding on a lot of issues that are going to change the course of education in Wayne-Westland for years to come.

Although we have supported each of the millage issues our Western Wayne schools have placed on their June 12 ballots and have listed a slate of candidates we support, we would encourage all registered voters to take some time to get to know the candidates and issues and to make their own choices at the polls next Monday.

Most importantly - Please vote. No excuses. Make your way to the nearest precinct and cast a ballot for the candidates and issues of your choice. We owe it to the citizens of the future (our children). Set a good example by participating in the electoral process Monday.

Students' fate on line

To the editor:

Ah yes! Once again the time has come to decide your children's fate. Fate you say? What fate? Yes the fate your children are going to have to face.

Their choice: Going to school or being out in the streets, doing who knows what with whom. The millage vote can decide a great deal of that fate. Your children need an education so they can improve themselves and prepare for the future. If the millage passes on June 12, busing, sports and other essential things needed to keep our kids off the streets, in gym or in other productive places will be reinstated. With busing back, your children won't be subject to traffic hazards and/or walking through environments where they could get caught up and get involved in unsavory activities.

If the 3.0 millage passes, it would cost the owner of a $50,000 home $75 per year. A $100,000 home would cost the owner $150 in taxes per year. The 18 mill non-homestead millage vote affects only businesses, not the homeowner. What a small price to pay to try and keep our children educated and give them alternative activities instead of the streets.

Our government is not going to pay for all this, we are going to have to take care of our financial problems. To ensure our children's future, it's up to us to take responsibility for our children and for all children in all districts in Michigan and throughout the United States.

If we invest in our schools, better students will be produced, and with better students, there is a change for a better society. It's worth a try.

Schools face troubles

To the editor:

These are troubled times for school districts. The old system seems to be falling apart before our eyes.

The spending limits enacted by Proposal A combined with the aggressive politics of the teachers unions has created a volatile mixture.

Education, like so much else in government, has become too expensive. Private sector taxpayers are now unwilling or unable to keep paying the bills for an education system that is seemingly out of control.

But, is it all gloom and doom? Absolutely not. There are readily available solutions.

Like what? Well, first we could create a budget. We must collectively decide how much we want to spend on education - then "right size" the entire system, including salaries, to reflect the money available. School employees who are dissatisfied could seek other opportunities - just like private sector workers have always done.

This may seem too obvious. But think about it - it has never been tried.

Under the current system - the spending occurs first - whether or not the money is available. Then a "crisis" is created, and the reluctant taxpayers eventually browbeaten into approving a millage increase. This is nuts!

No wonder the system is distrusted by the voters. Can you imagine a private company managing their affairs in this way? Of course not.

Today, every citizen has a duty to say "No" to the old education monopoly. Only in that way can we help them make the transition from old "crisis driven" system to a new system that is both efficient and sustainable.

Educational gloom and doom? No way! In the area of public education an exciting future is coming. But first parents and taxpayers must demand change.

With the help of parents - the best is yet to come.

Resident issues voter warning

To the editor:

On June 12, the voters of the Wayne-Westland school district will be asked to approve a two-year 3.0 enhancement millage. With the funds from this millage, the school district says it will reinstate busing for grades 6-12 and end activity fees that are currently paid for by the students.

How long will these changes last? The MEA union has sued the state of Michigan in order to fund the teachers union retirement fund. By state law, the school district must balance its budget. As a result, the MEA's action will probably cause a short fall in the school districts projected funding from the 3.0 millage. In the past, the school district has taken away busing and activity fees for sports. Nothing will stop them from doing it again.

The teachers of Wayne-Westland have agreed to a two-year wage freeze and they should be complimented. Building administrators, on the other hand, were very greedy when signing their contracts for the coming two years. Their greediness comes in two phases: 1) checks will be issued on June 30 for 8 percent of a building administrator's current salary, and 2) an 8 percent salary increase will be given after receiving their checks. If the school district claims they are so broke, how can we afford these checks and 8 percent raises?

And what about the administrative staff negotiating their contracts this coming year - will they also stay in line with 8 percent raises or will they even go for a higher percentage?

Let's ask for the truth: Is the Wayne-Westland school board really concerned for its students or are they simply too concerned with their own pocketbooks?

'Yes' vote is supported

To the editor:

On June 12, Wayne-Westland voters will be called upon to participate in a very important election. We will be asked to respond to two ballot proposals.

The first proposal, Proposition 1, is a two-year, three mill enhancement. If passed it will allow for the return of second-

Sound-Off 729-4006

Callers gripe about taxes, automobile costs, dogs in park

Callers registered a variety of gripes when they phoned the Sound-Off 729-4006 line last week, with the June 12 millage request in the Wayne-Westland School District topping the list.

Residents are invited to call in their comments to the Sound-Off 729-4006 line between 5 p.m. and 8 a.m. weekdays and at any time during the weekend. We ask that callers refrain from personal attacks and profanity.

The following calls were received:

Regarding the 18 mill renewal on the taxes which is to be paid by businesses - Although the businesses will be the ones paying the district, the people wind up paying the money to the businesses. Businesses cannot generate money without customers, so it is not true that it will cost the people nothing. It will continue to cost them just as it did before.

I take care of the roses at Goudy Park in Wayne. My gripe is that the good citizens of Wayne who walk their dogs let them dump all over where I work. I work there a couple of hours a day, seven days a week. If these people want to walk their dogs, walk them in their back yards and clean up after them. I wish the people would think about it and stop their dogs from doing it.

I am voting "no" on the enhancement on June 12. We are on a fixed income, and before you enhance others, you have to enhance your own life. Another factor I have to consider is that there has not been any children in school in this family since the late 1950s. Also, I will vote "yes" on the non-homestead tax because businesses create problems for the surrounding homeowners, the first being trash, the second being noise.

I noted on the news that auto sales are starting to slip. When are they going to learn that these cars cost too much money for plastic and cardboard. During one of these contract sessions, if someone could stand up to the UAW, maybe we could get these prices lowered.

Callers are requested to phone in their comments on the following issues:

Should U.S. troops become involved in the civil war in Bosnia?

What advice do you have for the Class of 1995? Are they ready for the job market?

Do you believe television programs have stepped over the limits of good taste?

Are gangs a real threat in Western Wayne County?

ary busing, eliminate pay for play, guarantee high school accreditation and help reduce our deficit.

The second proposal, Proposition 2, is simply a 15-year renewal of an 18 mill non-homestead tax. It does not increase the property tax of a homeowner but generates approximately $10 million dollars from businesses to operate our schools.

The passage of both of these proposals is imperative for the operation of our schools. A "yes" vote on both proposals will help ensure a promising future for our children and our community.

Peggie Mallon
Westland

Resident says vote 'yes'

To the editor:

One June 12 the Wayne-Westland school community will have the chance to vote on two millage proposals. A YES vote on both proposals is a YES vote for the children of our community. The children who reside in the Wayne-Westland community deserve an excellent education.

Proposition 1, an enhancement millage of 3 mills for two years, will, among other things, reinstate secondary busing and eliminate the pay-to-play fee. More importantly it will eliminate our current deficit situation without further cuts. It will allow our district to comply with the State School Law. If we fail to pass Proposition 1 our district will be forced to make further budget cuts. Our school board must balance the budget or the law clearly states the state can withhold our state funds - funds we can not operate without.

Proposition II, is a millage renewal on commercial property. I hope the community understands that this is first of all a renewal and secondly it does not affect their homestead property tax. If this proposition fails it will have tragic consequences for this district. The money provided by these mills are critical to the programs offered. It is money which the state will not replace.

I am frightened for the children of our community. Along with all the pressures of growing up, they also have to worry about whether the education they are receiving will adequately prepare them for their future. One thing is certain, we can not provide a top notch education on less and less money. I hope the parents of our district give a lot of thought as to what these issues mean to their children. I sincerely hope as parents we can unite together and get out and vote on June 12.

Cindy Schofield
Wayne

Millage supported

To the editor:

On June 12, residents of the Wayne-Westland School District will be faced with another millage election for our schools. What is being asked of us this time?

First we are asked to approve an existing 18 mill tax on business property. This renewal will not affect the taxes of homeowners.

Secondly, we are asked to approve a 3 mill tax for two years. This amounts to less than $9.40 per month on a home with a market value of $75,000. What will we get for this?

1. Funding to meet the standards required for high school accreditation will benefit all high school students.

2. Without the 3 mill approval, sports and other extracurricular activities, such as music, will continue to be open only to those who can afford the "pay-to-play" fees. These activities provide some healthy choices of the same youth we are telling to act responsibly, say no to drugs and treat others with respect.

3. Bus service to all middle and high schools would be restored. Many parents presently worry over the safety of their children getting to and from school on their own and therefore drive them to school. The parents of these students, as well as residents of the neighborhoods surrounding these schools is considerable.

4. Lastly, just as the federal government faces unpleasant choices to reduce the federal deficit, we are faced with the need to help eliminate the school district's deficit. Citizen anger at past Board choices and a general disgust with how our elected official's have handled our tax dollars has resulted in repeated millage defeats. The Board has been forced to make changes. The District has a new Superintendent. Schools have been told to teach our children with less money for supplies and fewer staff. Teachers and staff have agreed to contracts with pay freezes or other monetary concessions we would be unlikely to accept in our own paychecks. I think now it's our turn to help by providing adequate funding and approving both millage proposals.

Do I think taxes and homework are fun? No, but I believe we all know they are needed to provide a proper education for the future leaders and workers of our community.

Susan Bauder

Future

Inkster School District

Retired school principal Lorraine Patterson and incumbent Lorenzo Moner Jr. receive our endorsements for the two four-year terms on the school board. Patterson is well acquainted with the needs of the district and her background as a principal provides her with a good perspective on school issues. Moner, who has served as president, treasurer of the school board for the past four and one-half years, deserves another term to continue his leadership role in the school district.

Wayne-Westland School District

Ed Turner has earned our support for his work with youth in the district and for his participation in school district activities during the past 20 years. His regular attendance at school board meetings should provide him with a good background on district programs. Both Martha Pitsenbarger and David James have positive ideas to bring to the school district, and we will leave the choice of the second candidate up to the voters.

We support both millage proposals, the two-year, 3 mill enhancement and the 15-year renewal of the 18 mill non-homestead tax.

Duane Moore, the newly hired superintendent of schools, needs the support of the community to make improvements in the school district. Approval of the millages to provide funds to implement innovations and upgrades will help the new superintendent to do his job. He deserves an opportunity to bring positive changes into the district, and he needs the help of the voters to do it.

Reading fun

Youngsters can read little books, make up own stories

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

With a box of colorful little books and a mini-stage and puppets, author Bobby Lynn Maslen and her husband, John, brought the BOB book show to life on their recent trip to Wayne.

John Maslen patiently trimmed the paper puppets and erected the stage, while his wife explained the history of the BOB books.

Their love of reading and dedication to sharing their appreciation of reading to children prompted the series of books for youngsters, 4 and older, she said.

The "birth" of the BOB books came when Bobby Lynn Maslen sat down with a group of children and started to write a story with them.

She was dissatisfied with the books she had been using to teach her class of 4, 5- and 6-year-olds, because they weren't easy enough for the young children. With two small, leather characters - one round and one triangular - she began to draw pictures for the children, and to develop stories for "Mat" and "Sam."

Working with one child at a time, the story would grow into a small book that the child could read at one sitting, color the pictures and then take home to share with family and friends.

"The books were a lot of fun, and the youngsters were proud to be able to say that they had been able to read it all," Bobby Lynn Maslen said. "After reading the book, the children were proud to say, 'I read the whole book.' They had a real feeling of success."

If any one compliment thrills the Maslens, it is when a child tells them how proud he or she is to be able to "read the whole book," the author said.

"I knew the idea was a success when I gave the book to a youngster who didn't read. He looked at the book and listened to the story, and then unexpectedly ran from the room," she said. "I peeked out to look for him, and there he was - reading the story to his dog."

She created a set of little books, similar to the originals, but that were more carefully organized and presented sounds in a more effective order.

The books become so popular that in 1987, she and her husband, a watercolorist who illustrated her books - began to publish them out of an office near their home in Portland, Ore.

Soon it became impossible for the Maslens to keep up with the orders.

The books became a Children's Book-of-the-Month Club selection and some 100,000 copies were sold before Scholastic assumed distribution of the books.

"We've gotten some wonderful feedback from children, like a scrawled note that said, 'I like BOB books,'" Bobby Lynn Maslen said. "We also get a lot of letters from parents, one of whom said her child takes a BOB book to bed to read before he goes to sleep."

Currently, there are three sets of BOB books, packaged in bright red, yellow and blue. The first set, for beginning readers, tells about Mat - the circular character - and Sam - the triangular character - plus Dot, Mac and Mit. There is a puppet stage and two paper puppets plus a teacher/parent guide with suggestions for teachers youngsters to read.

The Maslens shared 13 suggestions for teaching children to read. First, read to your child, they said. Next, play word and sound games.

"Pick a symbol, such as moon and have the child practice the 'm' sound. Then post a picture of a cat with the word, 'cat' on it," Bobby Lynn Maslen said.

Other tips are to write short stories which the child dictates, sing alphabet songs, encourage the child to scribble and draw.

ANNUAL SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF ANNUAL ELECTION OF THE ELECTORS OF WAYNE-WESTLAND COMMUNITY SCHOOLS

WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN

TO BE HELD JUNE 12, 1995

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that the annual election of the school district will be held on Monday, June 12, 1995.

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7 O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING AND CLOSE AT 8 O'CLOCK IN THE EVENING.

At the annual school election there will be elected two (2) members to the board of education of the district for full terms of four (4) years ending in 1999.

THE FOLLOWING PERSONS HAVE BEEN NOMINATED TO FILL SUCH VACANCIES:

David James
Martha K. Pitsenbarger
Ed Turner

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE THAT the following propositions will be submitted to the vote of the electors at the annual school election:

I. OPERATING MILLAGE PROPOSITION

This millage enhancement is for two years only, 1995 and 1996, and would allow Wayne-Westland Community Schools to (a) reinstate bus transportation for eligible students in grades 6-12, (b) guarantee continued high school accreditation, (c) provide school-funded athletics and many extra curricular activities, and (d) comply with the State legal deficit reduction order, therefore:

"Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Wayne-Westland Community Schools, Wayne County, Michigan, be increased by 3 mills ($3.00 on each $1,000.00) on taxable valuation for a period of 2 years, 1995 and 1996, to provide additional funds for enhancement of operating revenue to be used as set forth above; the estimate of the revenue the school district will collect if the millage is approved and levied in the 1995 calendar year is approximately $3.2 million dollars from local property taxes authorized herein?"

II. MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSITION FOR NON-HOMESTEAD AND NON-QUALIFIED AGRICULTURAL PROPERTY

This millage renewal DOES NOT INCREASE the homestead property tax millage rate paid by taxpayers since the passage of Proposal A of 1994, therefore:

"Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property, excepting therefrom homestead and qualified agricultural property as defined by law, in Wayne-Westland Community Schools, Wayne County, Michigan, be increased by 18 mills ($18.00 on each $1,000.00) on taxable valuation for a period of 15 years, 1996 to 2010, inclusive, to provide funds for operating purposes; the estimate of the revenue the school district will collect if the millage is approved and levied in the 1996 calendar year is approximately $10 million dollars from local property taxes authorized herein (the above millage is a renewal of 18 mills to be levied in 1995 against non-homestead and non-qualified agricultural property)?"

ENGAGEMENTS

Karen Siupik and Steve Fenske

Siupik-Fenske

Dr. Karen E. Siupik of Livonia and Steve T. Fenske of Garden City have announced their engagement to be married on Sept. 9, 1995.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Paul and Kathleen Siupik of Livonia. She is a 1981 graduate of Wayne State University and a 1993 graduate of Life Chiropractic College. She is a chiropractor at O'Dell Chiropractic Life Center on Wayne Road in Westland.

The groom-to-be is the son of Thomas and Marilyn Fenske of Beaverton. He is a 1980 graduate of Bullock Creek High School and works as an operations manager at Spider Staging Corp. in Livonia.

Carnsew-Vogel

Lori Carnsew and Tobias Vogel, both of Belleville, have announced their engagement for a June 24, 1995 marriage.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Karen Carnsew of Richmond, Va. and Dale Carnsew of Ravenna, Ohio.

She earned a bachelor of science degree in engineering from Ohio State University in 1990 and is now a student at the Wayne State University School of Medicine in Detroit.

The groom-to-be is the son of Dr. Mary Ellen and Emil Vogel of Ramsey, N.J.

He was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in Fine Arts in 1991 from Ohio State University.

He currently is employed at the GM Gear Center of Romulus.

County sponsors events

During the summer, Wayne County Parks will offer many recreational activities for all age groups.

The summer and early fall events include:

- COMMUNITY 3 ON 3 BASKETBALL: June 17, Detroit Diesel Outer Drive Parking Lot. An action filled day of basketball for youth and adults.
- DETROIT SENIOR OLYMPICS: June 19-22, Belle Isle. Dozens of competitive events for Detroit area seniors, 50 and older.

Kozorosky-Conrad

Monique Joy Kozorosky of Westland and David William Conrad of Plymouth were married on Saturday, June 3 at St. Mary's Church of Wayne. Their reception was conducted at the Western Golf and Country Club in Redford.

They will spend their honeymoon in Jamaica and later reside in the Farmington Hills area.

The bride-elect is a hair artist at Salon International of Plymouth and is the youngest daughter of Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek. The groom-to-be is the son of Robert and Patricia Conrad of Plymouth and is a landscaping architect for Wayne Oakland Contracting of Canton.

Andrew, Gladys Hadyniak

Andrew and Gladys Hadyniak of Romulus will be honored on the 50th anniversary of their wedding on June 18, 1995 at Romulus Progressive Hall.

The Hadyniaks have been residents of the Romulus area for 75 years and were married on May 26, 1945 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Hadyniak is a veteran of the U.S. Army and was discharged in 1943. He later was employed by Capital Airlines (later United Airlines) and retired in 1983.

They are members of St. Aloysius Catholic Church and enjoy gardening, bingo and woodworking, as well as spending lots of time with their family.

They are parents of two daughters, Donna Payne and Andrea Overmeyer, and have five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Friends are invited to join in the celebration from 1 to 5 p.m. on June 18.

TRULY HYPERACTIVE CHILDREN NEED PROFESSIONAL HELP

by Ismail B. Sendi, M.D.

Enjoying

Having lots of energy and occasionally ignoring the requests of parents is a normal part of childhood, but for a small number of youngsters — fewer than 5 percent — excess energy and not listening are part of a greater problem: Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD).

Symptoms appear at about age 3

The symptoms of ADHD usually begin to appear when the child is 3 years old and gradually get worse. The main symptoms are:

- Problems with attention — Children with ADHD may act as if they don't hear what people are saying to them, even though they do not have a hearing problem.
- Difficulty in controlling impulsive behavior — They have trouble accepting external control such as directions from parents and rules at school.
- Hyperactivity — Children with ADHD have an exceptional amount of energy and may be accident-prone, often bumping into people and furniture.

When children with ADHD enter school, they may have difficulty getting along with other children. Sometimes they also have learning disabilities and may find it hard to understand what they read, or hard to understand spoken language.

Others may have unusually bad handwriting.

Accurate diagnosis is difficult

ADHD is difficult to diagnose accurately, since many of the symptoms may stem from other problems, such as depression or a delay in development. However, a correct diagnosis is the first step in effective treatment. Diagnosis should include a referral from the child's doctor or teacher to a mental health professional experienced in ADHD, who will perform a developmental assessment.

A comprehensive treatment plan then can be developed that involves the family and the school as well as the child. Medication is sometimes a part of the treatment, but medication alone may cover up symptoms without treating the underlying problem. In that case the child may actually develop more problems over time.

Some of the symptoms of ADHD may improve as children get older, but proper diagnosis and follow-up are needed to help these children have a smoother, happier childhood.

Inkster teen has runway appeal, admires model Cindy Crawford

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

Inkster resident Misty Condon entered the Teen magazine Great Model Search on a dare from her best friend, and now it looks as if she may have to owe that friend big time.

Condon has been selected as a regional semifinalist for the Teen contest.

"I just couldn't believe it," Condon said. "My friend and I were glancing through the magazine when we saw this contest, and she dared me to enter. I did, and look what happened."

Condon has that sleek, sexy look standing 5 feet, 9 inches. She has brown hair and brown eyes. She can slip into a size seven dress.

"I guess I've always wanted to model even as a child," said Condon. "If I win this contest, it will be a dream come true."

The Wayne Memorial High School senior is one of 360 regional semifinalists selected throughout the country. She said her only modeling experience has been a little runway work last summer for a benefit.

"I modeled summer clothes including a jean jacket for a Neiman Marcus benefit," said Condon. "It was a lot of fun. I was a bit nervous, but I knew that is what I want to do as a career."

Condon's ultimate goal is to be on the cover of Vogue magazine. She said she prefers print work to runway, but she would be willing to try for any modeling work.

"I would love to travel all over the world modeling," Condon said. "It's something that's a lot of fun even though it's work."

Condon is a firm believer in education. When she graduates this month, she already has plans to attend Henry Ford Community College where she intends on studying nursing.

"It's another avenue I would like to pursue," Condon said. Modeling is a tough field to get into, but Condon said she is ready to handle all the obstacles. She admires Cindy Crawford.

"She is not only beautiful, but she is smart," said Condon. "I think it's important for a woman to have both qualities."

Condon has been an Inkster resident for 10 years.

Winning smile Westland resident dreams of becoming a Cover Girl

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

A Westland resident is hoping 'she's got the look' which will launch her modeling career with Teen magazine.

Bri Wilde, 16, has been selected as the May 1995 Great Model Search regional semifinalist in the magazine contest.

Teen officials received more than 24,000 entries, but only 360 girls were selected as regional semifinalists.

Now the real wait begins for Wilde as she hopes to become the cover girl winner.

"I first found out about the contest in Teen magazine," said Wilde. "I sent in my photo, and then they sent back a letter saying I was a regional semifinalist. Now I'll just have to wait and see. I'm real excited about it all."

Wilde is a sophomore at John Glenn High School. She is 5 foot, 8 inches tall, has hazel eyes and light brown hair.

She said her career goal is to become a professional model.

"I modeled a little when I was younger, 7 or 8 years old," said Wilde. "In 1988 I won the Little Miss North America pageant. They judged you on your gown and presence."

Wilde has also appeared in several back-to-school advertisements in various newspapers and magazines. Her second love is dancing.

"I compete in jazz, tap, bally and lyrical," said Wilde. "It's something I really enjoy, especially performing in front of an audience."

Wilde has taken her dance act on stage to Las Vegas, New York and Atlantic City. These opportunities have allowed her to mature and become wise to the business world which will ultimately help her achieve her modeling career goal.

"Once I sent my picture in for Teen, I had all these modeling agents calling," said Wilde. "I had a few interviews with some of them. I'm just taking it one day at a time."

Wilde has a twin, her brother Brad, who is very supportive of her. Her parents, mother Darla, and father Gerry, are also hoping their daughter will succeed with her dream.

"She has a wonderful smile, and when she goes to the dentist, he always complements her teeth," said Darla Wilde.

If Wilde wins the Great Model Search for Teen, she will receive the following: An all-expense-paid trip to the national finals; National recognition as a Teen cover girl and a great opportunity for an exciting modeling career; and A $5,000 cash award from Maybelline and an appearance in a national Maybelline advertisement.

Semifinalists will receive a cosmetics bag and products from Maybelline. The winner of the contest will appear on the October issue of Teen.

Wilde could join a long line of successful models who have launched their careers on Teen covers including: Cheryl Tiegs.

Local teams make quick exits in districts

Rockets feel the big jolt

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Sports Writer

The inability throughout the regular season to get the "clutch hit" returned to haunt Westland John Glenn Saturday in the playoffs.

"We were always one-hit away from winning," said Glenn coach Norm Hoenes, after his Rockets were ousted by host Garden City, 2-1, in the first round of the Class A district playoffs.

"I knew that we weren't going to have the season like we had last year or the past three years," Hoenes added, "but I felt that we would do better than we did."

The loss dipped Glenn's record to 14-12 and closed the doors on Hoenes' 29-year coaching career. It is a career marked with more ups than downs. Hoenes' last three teams have reached the state quarterfinals.

Glenn southpaw Jerry Farrar gave up a game-winning top-of-the-seventh homer to GC's shortstop, Tom Fairchild, who was a thorn in Farrar's side. Fairchild accounted for three of the Garden City's seven hits, collecting a single and double to go along with the decisive HR.

Garden City scored in the first inning, but Glenn came

Although he got himself into trouble in the early innings, Romulus hurler Steve O'Connor (above) managed to keep the Eagles in the game against neighboring Belleville in a pre-district Class A showdown. O'Connor was removed after six, and the Eagles fell 6-5 to the Tigers who advanced to the district playoffs Saturday in Ypsi. back in the bottom of the fifth to tie the score after winning pitcher Ron Wazniak issued a walk to Farrar, who moved to second when Trevor Davey also worked Wazniak for a base on balls.

That brought Chris Turner to the plate who, with one away, nailed a Wazniak curveball down the right field line for a run-scoring double. The Garden City pitcher got out of the inning without further damage when he struck out the next two batters.

Farrar notched two strikeouts and also walked two in his final appearance on the mound for the Rockets.

Wazniak fanned four but also walked eight in the victory. However, the Jaguars didn't make it out of the district. They fell prey to a tough Detroit Catholic Central

After eliminating Romulus in a pre-district Class A baseball game, 6-5, on Tuesday, Belleville dropped a season-ending, heartbreaking 2-1 decision to host Ypsilanti Saturday in the opening round of the district playoffs.

In the other bracket, Wayne Memorial also saw its hopes for a district title shattered as Ann Arbor Huron ousted coach Jim Chronowski's Zebras from the playoffs, 5-2.

Ann Arbor went on to beat Ypsilanti in another thriller, 3-2, for the district title and qualify for Saturday's regional championships.

Belleville coach John Bertz attributed the Tiger loss to his club's inability to hit when it counted.

"We had our chances," said Bertz, whose team finished the 1995 campaign with a 17-16 overall record. "We left five runners on bases and failed to bring them around."

Ypsi scored two in the top of the first and held on to win the cliffhanger as Belleville hurler Mike Kinzel settled down after he struggled in the opening frame. Kinzel gave up three hits, two of those in the first inning. The Braves used those two singles and a pair of walks to score their only runs.

"After the first, Mike was tough," said Bertz.

"He shut them down the rest of the way."

Belleville almost pulled it out in the fifth when they got to winning pitcher Billy Sinkule for their only run. Sinkule, tagged for seven hits - he had 11 whiffs - saw Ben McCartney get aboard on an error; then the Ypsi hurler threw a fastball down the middle that Josh Flaig sent into left center for a two-bagger that saw McCartney score.

Flaig died on the base paths.

Earlier in the week, Belleville survived a 6-5 slugfest against neighboring Romulus, which came back after being down 4-0 to score twice in the fourth and sixth and also a run in the fifth.

Gary Harris led the losers with two singles and a double, while losing pitcher, soph Ryan Evans took the loss in relieve of starter Chris Drouillard.

Drouillard worked the first six innings and gave up five of the six Tiger runs.

Rodney Komaromi homered in the sixth for one of his three hits against Romulus pitchers. He also scored three of the six Tiger runs.

Belleville scored what proved to be the winning run in the top of the seventh when Evans walked Flaig, then Jason Vogelsberg sacrificed him to second. With two away, Jason Reeder singled to right center, with Flaig racing home with the winning run.

Top Wayne netters honored

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Sports Editor

In a tennis season filled with trials and tribulations, Wayne Memorial's James Bohnwagner and David Pfeiffer not only survived, but they proved that they were among the best players in the Mega Conference in 1995.

Because of financial problems, Wayne had problems fielding teams in various sports. Athletes were asked to pay-to-participate, a practice that will continue into the 1995-96 school year if voters fail to approve a three-mill enhancement package on June 12 ballot.

Bohnwagner is a two-year veteran of net warfare. At the end of the 1994 campaign, he started his rise in singles and took third place in the conference.

This year, Bohnwagner lost only to the top players at No. 2 singles. In addition to his tennis ability, Bohnwagner also is an outstanding student.

John Glenn celebrates a 'perfect' track season

Rockets unbeaten in 1995

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Sports Editor

It was a kind of season that most coaches can only dream of.

It was a season that Westland John Glenn track coach Jess Shough has been waiting and working toward for nearly a quarter of a century.

But that dream and the season became reality for Shough on Tuesday when his Rockets beat out Farmington Hills Harrison and the rest of the field to capture their first Western Lakes Conference track & field championship.

The title culminates a season that featured a perfect 8-0 dual meet record, a 5-0 divisional mark and the Lakes Divisional championship.

"It's been one of those seasons that comes once in a lifetime," said Shough after the final points were put on the scoreboard. "The chemistry on this team was right. The pieces fell in place - we won the divisional, the conference and also went undefeated - those were our goals, and they were realized by this club."

Shough brought the curtains down on his fifth year as the Rockets' coach, and his 25th year in coaching.

Moreover, the Westlanders won the conference title in record fashion. They garnered 150 points, more points than any other conference champion in the league's nearly 10-year history. Harrison finished a close second with 141 points.

Trailing the two pacesetters were: Plymouth-Salem (113), Northville (95), Walled Lake Western (78), Walled Lake Central (53), Livonia Stevenson (34.5), Plymouth-Canton (34), North Farmington (33), Livonia Churchill (27), Livonia Franklin (16.5) and Farmington (7).

Westland John Glenn's scholar-athlete, Brent Washington, led the Rockets' gold rush. The 17-year-old senior, who will be attending the University of Michigan next year on a scholarship captured the gold in the long jump with a leap of 21 feet, 0 inches.

Washington also came back to anchor the winning 400-meter relay team that also found gold at the finish line. The foursome included Phil Allen, Charles Bailey and Dan Brishaj, who were clocking in 44.2, beating second-place Northville to the wire (44.3).

Washington also was second in the 100-meter dash. The Rocket sprinter lost the gold in a photo finish to Jason Granger of Harrison. Both runners were clocked in the identical time (11.1).

Todd Peterson, also a senior, wrapped up his prep career with a gold in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles and also was awarded a silver in the lows.

Peterson's winning time in the immediate was a 40.6, while his second-place time in the lows was 14.9. Harrison's William Bryant took the gold with a 14.6.

Glenn's depth proved to be the decisive factor. It just had too much for the rest of the league.

Glenn's Jason Baker brought home a silver in the high jump competition (6'1"), losing the gold to Walled Lake Central's Jake Berardio (6'2"). Baker also was runner up in the pole vault event where he successfully negotiated 12'4", giving up the gold to Dale Terek of Livonia Franklin who cleared 13'9", a conference record.

Shough put together a lineup that included Joe Wojtowicz, Chris Gillen, Jason Crosby and Jason Olewnik who finished second in the 3,200-meter relay (8:10.2).

Glenn's bronze medalists were Jason Crosby, in the long jump (19'91/2"); Baker, in the 110-meter hurdles (15.5); Eric Davey, in the pole vault (12') and Shamar Lott, in the 400-meter dash (51.7).

Glenn managed to score in every event with the exception of the 1,600-meter, the 3,200 meter events along with the shot put and discus in the field events.

Rain ruins run for state titles

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Sports Editor

In the 25 years that they have taken teams and athletes to the state track and field finals, they have never seen "anything like it."

No, not the officiating, usually the cause of coaches' complaints.

"The weather. The weather was just horrendous," said Wayne Memorial coach Floyd Carter. "It just continued to come down, without a stop. I didn't see anyone who wasn't seeking protection from the rain or the cold. It sure didn't help the performances any."

Romulus coach Norbert Glover agreed.

"The rains broke the spirit of the day," said Romulus coach Norb Glover. "You had to feel sorry for the athletes. This was their day. And the weather took it away from them. It was cold and miserable, and there wasn't a break at all."

Fortunately, there was a small cadre of local athletes who probably didn't mind the cold. They returned home from the long trip to Saginaw with medals.

Romulus' Jeremy Castle, Thomas Taylor, Ambrose Green and Larry Jackson earned bronze medals for their third-place performance in the 1,600-meter relay. The foursome finished behind winner Cass Tech (Detroit) and Pontiac Northern in the race for the gold.

Cass won the event with a 3:19 run, while Northern was second (3:23), followed by the Eagles, who had an identical 3:23, but officials gave Northern the silver after a conference.

Romulus also boasts one of the finest up-and-coming athletes in the state in sophomore Nick McKinney who won a medal in the long jump and earned all-state recognition.

McKinney leaped 21 feet, 1 inch, good for fifth-place.

The weather also took its toll on Wayne Memorial's premier hurdler, senior Ken Riley, who went into the state finals with the best time in the 110-meter hurdles (13.9).

Riley had his problems right at the state. He had trouble getting off the block, then struck the first hurdle and managed to recover only to finish fifth in a field that brought together the state's finest. He crossed the finish line in 14.7.

Because he wanted to join his senior class for graduation, Riley decided to scratch from the 300-meters, an event he also had qualified for at state.

"You had to feel sorry for these kids," Carter said. "They had worked so hard all year, then the weather takes it away from them. It's something you can't help."

Earlier in the week, in his final appearance in the conference, Riley picked up three golds at the Mega Conference, Red Division championships. He was first in the 110-hurdles (14.4) and repeated in the 300-meters (40.0).

Wayne, which finished third overall to Belleville and Monroe, also won the 800-meter relay with Lorenzo Guess, Dwayne Jackson, Richard Buford and Richard Johnson, who were clocked in 1:31.8.

It took five years, but coach Jess Shough and the Rockets finally managed to reach their goal: An undefeated season. The Rockets breezed through the dual meet season with a perfect 8-0 record, cashed in on their depth to win the Lakes Division title and surfaced from the Western Lakes Conference meet with the conference championship. Shough, a veteran of 25 years of coaching - 20 at the former Cherry Hill High School - says "this was the kind of season that most coaches dream of but never really awaken to." Until now, that is. ## Robichaud's 1,600-meter relay wins state crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Sports Editor

Shattering all of their previous marks, Robichaud's 1,600-meter relay team captured a coveted gold medal at the Class B track & field state championships staged Saturday in the rain in Midland.

With the weather refusing to cooperate, the rains turned into a shivering cold northerly breeze for the finals that sent most of the athletes seeking protection from the cold.

Robichaud's young and bold relay foursome, consisting of sisters Andrea and Juanita McGrew, Lorri Alverson and Tamika Craig refused to allow the weather to stop them.

They cut through elements and blew the opposition away to win "their biggest victory of the season."

"They were great," noted Robichaud coach Francis McCauley. "These kids wanted that gold more than anything else, and they weren't going to allow anything to stop them."

Craig led off the record-setting relay, and handed off to Alverson, who passed the baton to Juanita McGrew who gave her sister a small lead to protect. Andrea kept the torrid pace and when she crossed the finish line, officials recorded the time at 4:07.6.

"They have been breaking their own records all year long," McCauley commented. "This one was for the gold."

The victory also lifted the Bulldogs to a 13th-place finish at state. They compiled 16 points.

Caledonia, with 42 points, won the women's division of the Class B state championship, while River Rouge, a Suburban Athletic Conference affiliate, along with Otisville were tied for second with 32 points.

Robichaud also wrapped up the SAC Conference championships second to league champ, Rouge. Rouge garnered 180 points as compared to the Bulldogs' 174.

Oak Park, which is leaving the conference next fall to join the Oakland County Mega League, was third (33), followed by Willow Run (32), Inkster (29), Highland Park (15) and Ecorse (4).

But they also had a double-gold winner in Craig, who coasted to victories in the 400-meters (1:02.2) and the 800-meters (2:43.0). Deanna Kulman also picked up a pair of SAC golds in the distance events. She led the pack over the finish line in the 1,600-meters (6:20) and won the 3,200-meters in 13:43.

Robichaud won the 3,00-meter relay with Juanita McGrew, Tamika Craig, Kulman and Nova Schollenberger, while Andrea McGrew picked up a gold in the high jump competition after clearing 4'10".

Reds set baseball camp dates

If you think you have what it takes to make a professional baseball player, the Cincinnati Reds would like to get a look at you.

The Reds will be conducting a tryout camp for baseball players on June 22 and local players, ages 16 to 22, are invited to participate. The camp will be held at Ford Field, located in Livonia.

High school sophomores and juniors are especially urged to attend this camp.

Reds Scouting Supervisor Robert Koontz will be in charge of the workouts that will get underway beginning at 9:30 a.m. Registration will take place at 9 a.m., and all players participating in the workouts must be registered prior to the 9:30 a.m. starting time.

All eligible players must also bring their own uniforms, glove and shoes. The Reds will furnish all of the other necessary equipment. In addition, each player will be responsible for his traveling and living expenses, if any, unless signed to a contract with the Cincinnati Reds organization.

Players must be 16 years of age to be eligible to participate, and all American Legion players must also bring written permission from their Post Commander or their Legion

Wayne strands 9 on base paths in loss to Huron

By TOM MOORADIAN

After spoiling Belleville's bid for a shot at the Wolverine "A" Conference baseball title on Tuesday, Wayne Memorial on Saturday left nine runners on bases and lost a 5-2 decision to Ann Arbor Huron in the first-round of the Class A district tournament hosted by Ypsilanti High.

Huron exploded for three runs off of Wayne starter Shannon Greene, who was tagged for five hits, including a homer to Matt Beard in the fourth.

Beard's homer sailed over the left-center field fence, a distance of 345-feet.

Green struck out six and walked three in digesting his fourth setback of the season.

Huron's David Roach got the victory, with some relief help from Beard, who pitched the final three innings.

Wayne collected its two runs in the top of the fourth after one out. Kevin Wetmore started the rally with a single to center, then moved to second when Roach walked Jeff Temple. After Ron King popped up for the second out, Clark Boston came to the plate and drilled one to left center - good for a two-run double.

Then, Aaron Cagnon also walked, and Green kept the Zebras' hopes alive with an infield single that loaded the bases. But Brian Johnson grounded to short, who flipped the ball over to second for the forceout, ending the inning.

Earlier in the week, Wayne turned back Belleville 3-2 behind right-hander Brad Tajiri's two-hitter.

The loss dropped the Tigers into a two-way tie for second place and out of title contention.

Belleville's Rodney Komaromi was charged with the loss. He gave up four hits, fanned three and walked two. He got into trouble in the fourth inning when the Zebras tilted the scoreboard for all three of their runs.

In that crucial fourth, Komaromi issued walks to Green and Scotty Wetmore, then Clendening double to center, scoring the two base runners. Clendening scored the third run when Kevin Wetmore hammered a single that went up-the-middle.

Also in the fourth, the Tigers came back for their two runs. Josh Flaig led off with a single then, after Komaromi popped up to the catcher, Davenport hit a grounder that Wetmore couldn't handle, putting Tigers on first and third. Mike Kinzel then came through with a double to center, chasing home the two runs.

Tajiri ended the Tiger rally by getting Vogelsberg and Jason Garland to fly out.

The loss dropped Belleville to a 10-5 record, while Wayne finished with a 5-8-1 mark.

Wayne to offer summer cage camp

By TOM MOORADIAN

So you want a shot at Wayne Memorial's super cage star Lorenzo Guess? A one-on-one contest, maybe?

Or you'd like to learn how to play better defense or shoot the trey like Lorenzo and his brother, Lavelle?

Well, you may pick up a tip or two by attending the Wayne Memorial High School Summer Basketball Camp.

Wayne coach Chuck Henry announced this week that Wayne will host a two-session camp beginning June 19 for grades eighth through 12. The second session will be held on June 26-30.

Henry said the camp will offer instruction and demonstration in fundamental basketball skills as well as drill work to improve individual performance. A camp T-shirt will be presented to each participant, and trophies will be awarded for special achievements.

Please make checks payable to Charles Henry, and the check, along with the following information: name, address and city, including telephone number, to Wayne Summer Basketball Camp, 1927 Treadwell, Westland, Mich. 48185.

For further information, telephone 729-8022.

Dolphins seek swimmers

Jim McPartlin, one of the more successful high school swimming coaches in the area, is seeking young swimmers for the Dolphins Swim Club.

"We're holding tryouts this month for swimmers who want to learn or improve their swimming skills," said McPartlin, a former Wayne Memorial coach whose teams have won numerous conference and invitational championships.

McPartlin said that the club is registering swimmers who attend the Wayne-Westland schools. Tryouts have been scheduled for 6 p.m. on June 12-13 for both boys and girls.

Swimmers should have at least intermediate swimming skills. Tryouts will be conducted at the Wayne Memorial swim pool, located at the high school, 3001 Fourth Street.

For further information, contact coach McPartlin at 728-0349.

Governor announces facility agreement

A gift and acceptance agreement valued at $1 million has been reached between the state and SmithKline Beecham (SKB) Pharmaceuticals, according to Gov. John Engler.

The international company, based in Belgium, will allow for the expansion of an existing Department of Public Health building for the purpose of diphtheria vaccine production with costs for the project donated by SKB in collaboration with the Attorney General's office.

"This gift strengthens our growing relationship with SmithKline Beecham," said Engler who feels the pact is a addition to the Groesbeck Laboratory on North Martin Luther King, Jr. Boulevard in Lansing. Construction is set to begin within the next month and be completed by the end of October 1995.

The expansion will be state property and will be leased by SKB for vaccine production. Vernice Davis Anthony, director of the Michigan Department of Public Health, welcomed the agreement.

"SmithKline's gift will dramatically improve our diphtheria production facilities and increase our production capacity," she said. "We thank them for their commitment to Michigan."

No excuses Seat belt law enforced this week

Special police patrols will continue efforts to improve safety belt use in Wayne County on June 9 and 10 with the "No Excuses" campaign.

The campaign seek to raise safety belt use from the current 56 percent in Wayne County to the state and national averages of 66 percent.

Motorist stopped by special patrols for moving violations are subject to citations for not wearing seat belts, even if the moving violation is not ticketed.

Special patrols will be working both days on roads and freeways in Wayne County.

Sounding the "No Excuse" call will be patrols from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, the Michigan State Police and 14 local communities, including Belleville, Canton, Huron Township, Sumpter Township, Van Buren Township, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Detroit and other communities.

The "No Excuses" campaign is funded by the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning.

A recent survey revealed that:

- More than 70 percent of babies, 1 to 4, and adults, 60 and older, were the users of safety belts or seats.

- Safety belt use is lowest among those 16 to 29, with 60 percent usage.

- Safety belt use was lowest among drivers and passengers of pickup trucks. Only 44.9 percent of these individuals were buckled up during the survey.

In Michigan, motorists violating the safety belt use law may only be cited if they are pulled over for another moving violation. Each passenger 16 and older who is not wearing a safety belt may be given a $25 ticket.

2 colleges hold tuition fees

Grand Valley State University and Lake Superior State University are the first of Michigan's 15 public universities to make public their intentions to hold tuition rates to the rate of inflation, making education more affordable in Michigan and providing a tangible state tax break to tuition-paying individuals, announced Senator Loren Bennett (R-Canton Township).

Persons paying tuition at Michigan's public four-year colleges and universities are eligible for an annual $250 tax credit per student for up to four years, if the institution keeps its tuition rate increases at or below the rate of inflation.

Bennett, who sponsored the tuition tax deduction as part of the $1.6 billion Senate tax cut package approved in March, is elated by the early decisions.

"I am grateful for the leading role these universities have taken on this issue," Bennett said. "It was the intent of my legislation to make higher education more affordable for Michigan families and these universities have responded nobly to the challenge, providing a fine example of accountability to all our state's public institutions of higher education."

Lake Superior State University actually rolled back its intended tuition increases from 3.4 percent to the required 2.6 percent, anticipating the lost revenues will be made up through increased enrollment.

Michigan State University earlier announced a tuition guarantee program, and Bennett is waiting to find if their projected tuition increase will meet the 2.6 percent standard. Should MSU participate in the plan, estimates on 1993 enrollment for the three universities would save Wayne County taxpayers $1.3 million this year alone.

"This plan seeks to foster greater financial responsibility at the administrative level," Bennett stated. "The cost of poor management decisions should not be borne by students or their families." Bennett went on to say that although most of the state's education institutions are responsibly run, this is an added incentive, encouraging healthy competition among those schools.

This will be the first year the tuition tax deduction is in effect and dependent upon how many of Michigan's colleges and universities choose to participate, early estimates indicate the measure could save taxpayers more than $100 million over the next five years.

Decisions regarding tuition rates for the 1995-96 school year will be reported by most universities prior to the end of June.

Exchange program seeks sponsors

The SHARE high school exchange program needs a few more families in this area to host foreign students who will arrive in August.

These students, ages 15 to 18, come from several different countries including Japan, Germany, Brazil, Poland, Slovakia, and others. Students will attend local high school for a year.

Students speak English, have spending money and medical insurance when they arrive. The host families are requested to provide a bed, meals, and a caring home.

Area representatives of the ERDT/SHARE program live in the community, and will assist families with any questions or concerns that arise during the students stay.

Also needed are families to host "short stay" students who come for one month in the summer. These teens spend time with an American family to learn about our culture and improve their English. Families with horse ranches, dairy ranches and orchards, as well as non-farm families are needed to host these students.

ERDT Regional Director, Delores Bowers, said, "The best reason for this program is to learn a little about their culture as they learn about the American culture. It promotes world understanding. I mean, if you know someone from that country, it makes you look at it a little differently".

The host families have some choice in the country that their student comes from and often times have a choice between a few students from their chosen country.

To speak with an area representative, or for further information on this unique program please call the regional office of ERDT/SHARE High School Exchange Program at 800-835-8760.

Pesticide warning issued by Agriculture officials

The Michigan Department of Agriculture issued pesticide warnings to consumers that have recently purchased roach or insect products.

The MDA officials said if consumers find the products, they should carefully place them in two plastic bags, seal the top of the bags and put them in a secure location away from children or pets.

Call the MDA in Southfield for further instructions (810-356-1701) if you find any of the following: Hudson's Roach and Insect Killer, Dynamite Roach Killer, and any unlabeled pesticide.

The products may contain a dangerous pesticide called methyl parathion, which is not approved for use indoors where people live and work.

It is a restricted use pesticide that may only be applied to specific agricultural crops by state certified (tested) applicators.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, is conducting an intense investigation to determine who manufactured and distributed the products.

A person can be exposed to methyl parathion by swallowing it, breathing it or getting it on their skin. Symptoms of poisoning include: sweating, dizziness, excess saliva, muscle tremors, headache, muscle weakness, diarrhea, blurred vision, nausea and vomiting. Anyone concerned about possible exposure should contact his or her doctor.

ness, excess saliva, muscle tremors, headache, muscle weakness, diarrhea, blurred vision, nausea and vomiting. Anyone concerned about possible exposure should contact his or her doctor.

Residents whose homes have been treated with methyl parathion may detect a strong odor similar to that of natural gas. In addition, the application may have left a yellowish-orange residue on woodwork, linoleum and other hard surfaces. If consumers find the products, they will be asked to provide the following information when they call the MDA:

Name, address, and phone number. The location where the products was purchased or the name of the person who sold/gave it to them. Full description of the container, its contents and label. When the product was used, how much was used and how often it was applied.

Callers will be given further instructions on disposal.

Anyone wanting more information about the health impacts of methyl parathion can call Dr. David Wade, Michigan Department of Agriculture at (517) 373-1087 or the MDA of Southfield at (810) 356-1701.

Notice of Public Hearing on Increasing Property Taxes

The City Council of the City of Inkster will hold a public hearing on a proposed increase of 0.40 mills in the operating tax millage rate to be levied in 1995.

The hearing will be held on Monday, June 19, 1995 at 7:30 p.m. at Council Chambers, 2025 Middlebelt, Inkster, MI.

Action on the proposed additional millage will be taken at this public meeting.

If adopted, the proposed additional millage will increase operating revenues from ad valorem property taxes 1.81% over such revenues generated by levies permitted without holding a hearing. If the proposed additional millage rate is not approved the operating revenue will increase by 0.3% over the preceding year's operating revenue.

The taxing unit publishing this notice, and identified below, has complete authority to establish the number of mills to be levied from within its authorized millage rate.

This notice is published by:

City of Inkster
2121 Inkster Road
Inkster, MI 48141
563-4267

Ford hits home run with 1995 Lincoln Continental

By JUSTIN WILCOX
MCN Automotive Writer

In the days of long ago cars were big, prices were low and gasoline was almost as cheap as buying a candy bar.

Today, Americans are not so lucky. Cars have dwindled in size and gas prices have flown out of the window. The big three have met the challenge by producing smaller, more fuel efficient cars.

The problem is that often these new wonder machines do not conform to the American philosophy still held by many, that bigger is better.

Ford's answer to this problem is the Lincoln Continental. For 1995, this means a more powerful engine, a more aerodynamic look and fuel economy that the economy cars of the past could only dream about.

The Continental's main competition is the Cadillac STS, so it would be wrong of me to not compare the two after spending some quality time behind the wheel of each.

The first difference between the two cars is how each puts its power to the pavement. The Cadillac incorporates a traditional rear-drive configuration. There are pros and cons of each, however, the Lincoln proves to be a more manageable car to drive.

The Continental has an all-speed traction control system that can be disengaged by pushing a button, a feature the Cadillac cannot boast about due to the lack of an on/off switch.

The Cadillac's traction control may stay on all the time, but torque steer is a constant, and sometimes dangerous problem for those not familiar with the car.

The Continental is much more poised making full throttle acceleration into traffic a breeze. The Lincoln continues to win over its counterpart when it comes to drive ability.

Quite frankly, the Cadillac cannot compete with the Lincoln's menu of options. Let me clarify, when I say "menu", I literally mean menu.

The Lincoln allows the driver to choose what suspension settings they would like, the amount of effort the driver would like to endure when turning the steering wheel, as well as if they like the doors to lock after the car start moving.

It also allows the driver to choose the "express down" feature on the windows and whether or not the mirrors tilt down when the car is put into reverse.

The beauty of all these options is that the car automatically stores all of them into its memory along with the desired seat position, mirror position and radio stations.

I think I may have also found an optional coffee maker, well maybe not, but the car sure had a lot of gadgets.

So far my score card reads Lincoln 5, Cadillac 0. It's the bottom of the ninth and the Lincoln could win the game.

The price? Well, let me just say that the Cadillac and the Lincoln are neck and neck.

However, the Cadillac does not possess half of the technology found in the Continental. Depending on how the Cadillac is optioned, it could cost nearly $5,000 more than the Continental.

At a nearly fully loaded as tested price of $46,455, the Continental hits a home run to win the game.

My ivory, pearlescent Continental came equipped with leather, a 4.6L 32-valve V-8, power moonroof, traction control and compact disc changer.

Ford has spent a great deal of time researching what it takes to build a quality, luxury automobile. Fit and finish of the Continental are staggering. All switches and controls felt like they were a living part of the car, a feeling I did not get from the Cadillac.

The layout of all the necessary controls were pretty good. This is probably the only place in this article where I might give a point to Cadillac.

I like the positioning of the climate controls in the right of the steering column within easy reach. I found I had difficulty reaching the controls in the Continental which are placed below the radio, closer to the floor.

In the luxury car segment, Continental has been crowned the new champion, at least in my opinion. It's not cheap, but it does cost less than the STS and has a lot more to offer.

So, now that the world series of automobiles is over, the headline should read: "Ford 6, General Motors 1, NO CONTEST."

High temperatures can cause auto problems

It doesn't make any difference to your car: it can break down in the stifling temperatures of summertime just as well as when Arctic winds drive the mercury below zero.

While there is no such thing as a foolproof performance guarantee, AAA Michigan says there are things you can do to reduce the chances of car trouble and enhance the chances of spending the day at the beach instead of waiting for help by the side of the road.

Gerald Gutowski, assistant vice president, Member Services, cites statistics that show cars play no seasonal favorites when it comes to breaking down.

Between June 1 and Aug. 31 last year, the Auto Club answered 194,200 emergency road service calls statewide, or 22 percent of the 875,507 calls serviced for the year.

"Warm temperatures can strain your car's cooling, ventilation and electrical systems," said Gutowski, adding that trouble begins for many motorists when temperatures are above 90 degrees.

When that happens, vehicles with weak batteries may have difficulty starting, air conditioning systems can fail and poorly maintained cooling systems can overheat.

Check tires, the anti-freeze and coolant level, oil level, hoses and belts, transmission fluid and tune engine, if required, before making a summer trip, AAA advises.

The Michigan Department of Transportation estimates that motorists will clock 90 billion miles on state roads in 1994-95 - more this summer than at any other time of the year.

With proper vehicle maintenance, you could be among those motorists who'll get where they're going!

quired on motorboats with enclosed engines and recommended for all watercraft.

- Check the weather forecast before leaving home and monitor a marine radio frequency for warnings while underway.

- Carry basic tools and a first aid kit.

- Give trip plan with destination and expected returntime to someone reliable and notify that person of any changes.

- Follow safety procedures when refueling.

Personal flotation devices also save lives. Michigan law requires one PFD for each person on board. New laws enacted in 1994 require children under 6 to wear PFDs on any boat from Canows to sailboats to giant cruisers.

Legislators are also clamping down on drunk boating. Laws enacted in 1993 provide that a boat operator with a blood alcohol level (BAC) of .10 percent or more who cause a death, faces up to 15 years in jail and a fine between $2,500 and $10,000.

ANNOUNCING

THE OFFICIAL N.A.D.A. CHEVROLET TRADE-UP PROGRAM!

We are pleased to announce a new Chevrolet TRADE-UP PROGRAM that could mean SIGNIFICANT SAVINGS for you when you buy a new Chevrolet car, truck or van.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS ...

For any 1988-1992 vehicle, GEORGE MATICK CHEVROLET will allow you the original manufacturer's retail base price (MSRP), as listed in the NADA Guide, less 12¢ per mile driven and any reconditioning expense, not to exceed current NADA retail.

GEORGE MATICK CHEVROLET has been selected as the Metro Test Dealer for this program. This program will be offered for SEVEN DAYS ONLY, June 8th through 14th, 1995.

GEORGE MATICK CHEVROLET will be offering the following dollar amounts for any 1988-1992 vehicles (excludes specialty vehicles) when you purchase a new or previously owned vehicle. George Matick will take any manufacturer's vehicle in trade.

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE ...

If the original base sticker price on the vehicle you own was $12,500.00, you've driven it 20,000 miles and it's in good shape, you could receive a $10,100.00 trade-in allowance toward the purchase of any new or used vehicle.

If You're Really Concerned About What Your Trade-in's Worth, This Special Sale Is For You!

ACT NOW! ONLY 7 DAYS!
